REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

Nearly a year ago I entered your service again as your Superintendent of Schools, having, as I thought, the confidence of school officers, the respect of the pupils, and the hearty co-operation of teachers, and a majority of the parents and tax-payers; and as the year is about at its close, am pleased to report to you for study a general showing of the condition of the educational department of town affairs.

Your Directors have sustained 14 schools of three terms each, taught by a properly licensed teacher, and began an extra school at East Cambridge for the winter term, but on account of measles prevailing, closed the school. As a general rule the same teachers have been retained through the year, which shows both credit to the teacher and caution on the part of Director in selecting same. I find an increased interest on the part of parents, tax-payers and citizens generally; a growing interest in the progress and prosperity of our schools; and as I have endeavored to create a new enthusiasm among townsmen, they frankly acknowledge their neglect of one of their important duties, and promise to take a live interest in schools by co-operating with officer and teachers, that the one grand object of public schools may be reached.

Every citizen in this town, or any other town, in a very large degree owes his or her liberties, protection, and the congenial atmosphere of a good government to the result of enlightenment, and that is attained by instruction received in our public schools.

This institution is one that does not merely exist, but is a living power, supported and sustained by public interest and painstaking effort, as well as a money tax. It must be kept alive, burning, flourishing, progressing, and in order to attain to condition requisite to its demands, someone must take more than a general interest, it must be special, it must be personal. Who will be the someone? It should be you, me. I say, upon your efforts and your interest, education will be raised to a higher plane among us, if at all. Do not neglect this. It is your privilege, yes, your duty, that you owe to every boy and girl in this town. You surely would not withhold from them these, opportunities that are essential to good citizenship within a few short years. If you do not live to see the fruit of such an interest, your posterity will be helped by your labors full more than the estate you may bequeath to them.

Let us be in earnest about this question before us according to its importance. It ranks second to no other that comes before you as a town.

Through your directors quite extensive repairs have been made in the Lamplough and Hemlock school-houses, making the town furnished with very pleasant and convenient homes for the pupils which I assure you is appreciated by them.

The truant officer has had his attention called to a few cases resulting in better attendance. In this matter of compelling scholars to attend school, let it be understood that the only object in the carrying into execution of this law is for the good of the scholar and no other motive whatever. I invite the aid of every townsman in aiding the officer to carry out this law according to the intents and purposes.

Your attention is called to the fact that it is the duty of all to aid in a better attendance in the schools.

With the exception of winter terms of schools, (being effected by measles being prevalent) attendance has been very good but parents should use care in aiding teacher in sustaining as near the 100 per cent. as possible. Let us all awake to our duty and the exercise of it.

MARK STEVENS,
Superintendent.

School Superintendent's Report.

To the Citizens of the Town of Cambridge :—

The Superintendent of Schools for the year ending April 23, 1898, submits the following report:—

On April 24, 1897, ten schools were opened, with an enrollment of 266 pupils and 14 teachers. During the year the number enrolled increased to 380. One school was closed in May and teacher and pupils transferred to the Jeffersonville school.

The work done during the year has been generally good, showing steady improvement in most of the schools. The standard of school work we have endeavored to raise in every way possible. Teachers' meetings for consultation have been held, books and papers relating to teaching have been distributed and suggestions have been made personally to teachers. The teachers have, generally, been efficient and faithful, and few changes have been necessary on account of poor work. A number of changes have been made, but usually for personal reasons.

It has been our purpose to place the greatest stress upon those common branches most in demand through life, but there has been time sufficient for the pursuit of higher branches, which, if never put to practical use, yet serve to develop the brain and increase the understanding.

In the Cambridge school, 20 have pursued these higher branches, four of which have been taught. In the Jeffersonville school, 23 have taken up higher studies, nine of which were taught.

Drawing has been taught in some of the schools. The best work of this kind has come from the "Smilie" school. The best papers on nature-study have come from the "Fuller" school. Very good work in map drawing has been done in nearly all of the schools. For perfect tidiness of school room and pupils, I commend the "Hemlock" school this winter.

Fifteen pupils throughout the town have completed and reviewed the text books furnished in the common branches. Those of this number who pass a required examination are granted common school diplomas. Nearly all of the pupils in the graded schools receive certificates of promotion. Owing to the unequal distribution of pupils in the different rooms, the grading is not quite satisfactory, but this defect can only be remedied by larger buildings. The highest and intermediate rooms of the Jeffersonville school would be benefitted by an extra room to receive the overflow which seems inevitable another year. The intermediate and primary rooms of the Cambridge school would likewise be benefitted by a room for the advanced class from the primary and the beginning class from the intermediate.

A town library, if selected with reference to the schools, would be of great benefit.

Vocal music should be taught in the schools.

Since industrial training has become such a successful feature of so many of the best schools of our land, provision should be made for such training in our schools.

Enough should be paid to secure the best teachers, and only the best teachers should be secured.

ALICE A. FLAGG, Superintendent.

School Superintendent's Report.

CAMBRIDGE, VT., Feb. 8, 1899.

The Superintendent of Schools for the town of Cambridge respectfully submits the following report, to wit:—During the first month of the school year 1898, ten schools were opened with fourteen teachers. The number of pupils for the year varied between 300 and 400.

The work done by pupils and teachers, in general, has been up to the average, and most of the pupils have shown a steady advancement. A majority of the teachers have been faithful in their work. Only three changes have been made on account of inefficient work or bad discipline. Other changes have been made for personal reasons.

A school has been established in the "Notch," so called, where twenty-six pupils were enrolled the first term. During the year some of these pupils have been transferred to other schools on account of distance and better advantages.

At the Boro school sixteen pupils have pursued higher branches of study, including Algebra, Physical Geography, Rhetoric, Latin, General History and Legal Forms. At the Jeffersonville school 17 pupils have studied Algebra, Physical Geography; Latin, Geometry and Physics.

Drawing has been taught in some of the schools, where very good work has been done. Those deserving special mention are the "Smilie," and the Boro, Primary and Intermediate departments.

The grading of the two village schools is as yet unsatisfactory, owing to lack of room. This can be remedied, in a large degree, by dividing the primary room in each building, and combining the higher classes of the Primary department with the lower classes of the Intermediate department, and thus making another school.

Repairs have been made upon the school buildings as occasion required, especially on the village houses, where new chimneys have been laid from the cellars, thus improving the heating facilities. But at the Boro school the heating apparatus and its management are unsatisfactory. Several cases of illness have been the result of cold school-rooms, and the teachers have been unable to hold several sessions on account of cold weather. Ventilators have been placed in the Jeffersonville building, and should be placed in the Boro building.

The most marked improvement in deportment and scholarship has been shown in the Jeffersonville Primary department during the last two terms, and deserves special mention.

The higher departments of the two village schools are sadly in need of books of reference. A complete and elaborate encyclopedia would be a great help to the pupils of the Higher and Intermediate departments.

During the year new charts and maps have been added to the equipment of some of the schools.

S. G. START, Town Superintendent.

REPORT OF TOWN SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

The first term of the school year 1899-1900 opened with fourteen teachers and two hundred fifty-nine pupils. In the fall one teacher was added to the Boro school, making fifteen teachers. At present there are three hundred pupils registered.

A new school building has been erected at Cambridge Junction, which is comfortable and commodious, easily heated, with good ventilation and fitted with modern furnishings. The building is well located, with good drainage and ample room for a play ground.

The Boro building, which was destroyed by fire, had just been thoroughly overhauled and remodeled to better accommodate the school. The other school buildings are in a fair condition, except in the "Smilie" district, where extensive repairs are needed.

The grading of the village schools has been rearranged to give better results than the old grading. Four teachers are employed at the Boro, and the same number at Jeffersonville for two terms. But on opening a school at the Junction, one department was discontinued at Jeffersonville.

Teachers meetings have been held throughout the year, where the teachers have met for consultation. Questions of methods and discipline have been discussed. A course of study has been arranged to be used in all of the schools, so that a pupil going from one school to another can continue his work without interruption.

In the higher departments the course has been arranged as nearly as possible in conformity to the course in the various high schools and academies in this part of the state. The object being to prepare pupils to enter the third year in the higher schools.

Twenty-two pupils in the higher departments have pursued advanced studies, which include Algebra, General History, Geometry, Latin, Physical Geography and Rhetoric.

The work done by teachers and pupils shows an improvement on last year's work, the pupils showing a good working knowledge of subjects studied. The teachers have been faithful, and with only one or two exceptions successful.

The Boro higher department shows the greatest improvement in scholarship, deportment and general interest in the work.

The attendance has been remarkably good throughout the town, and the parents are deserving of much credit in their efforts to keep their children in school, and it is hoped that this interest will continue.

New maps and charts have been added where they were needed. A new Atlas has been added to each of the village schools, and it is hoped that a complete and elaborate Encyclopedia will soon be added for the more advanced pupils.

S. G. START, Town Superintendent.

REPORT OF LIBRARY TRUSTEES.

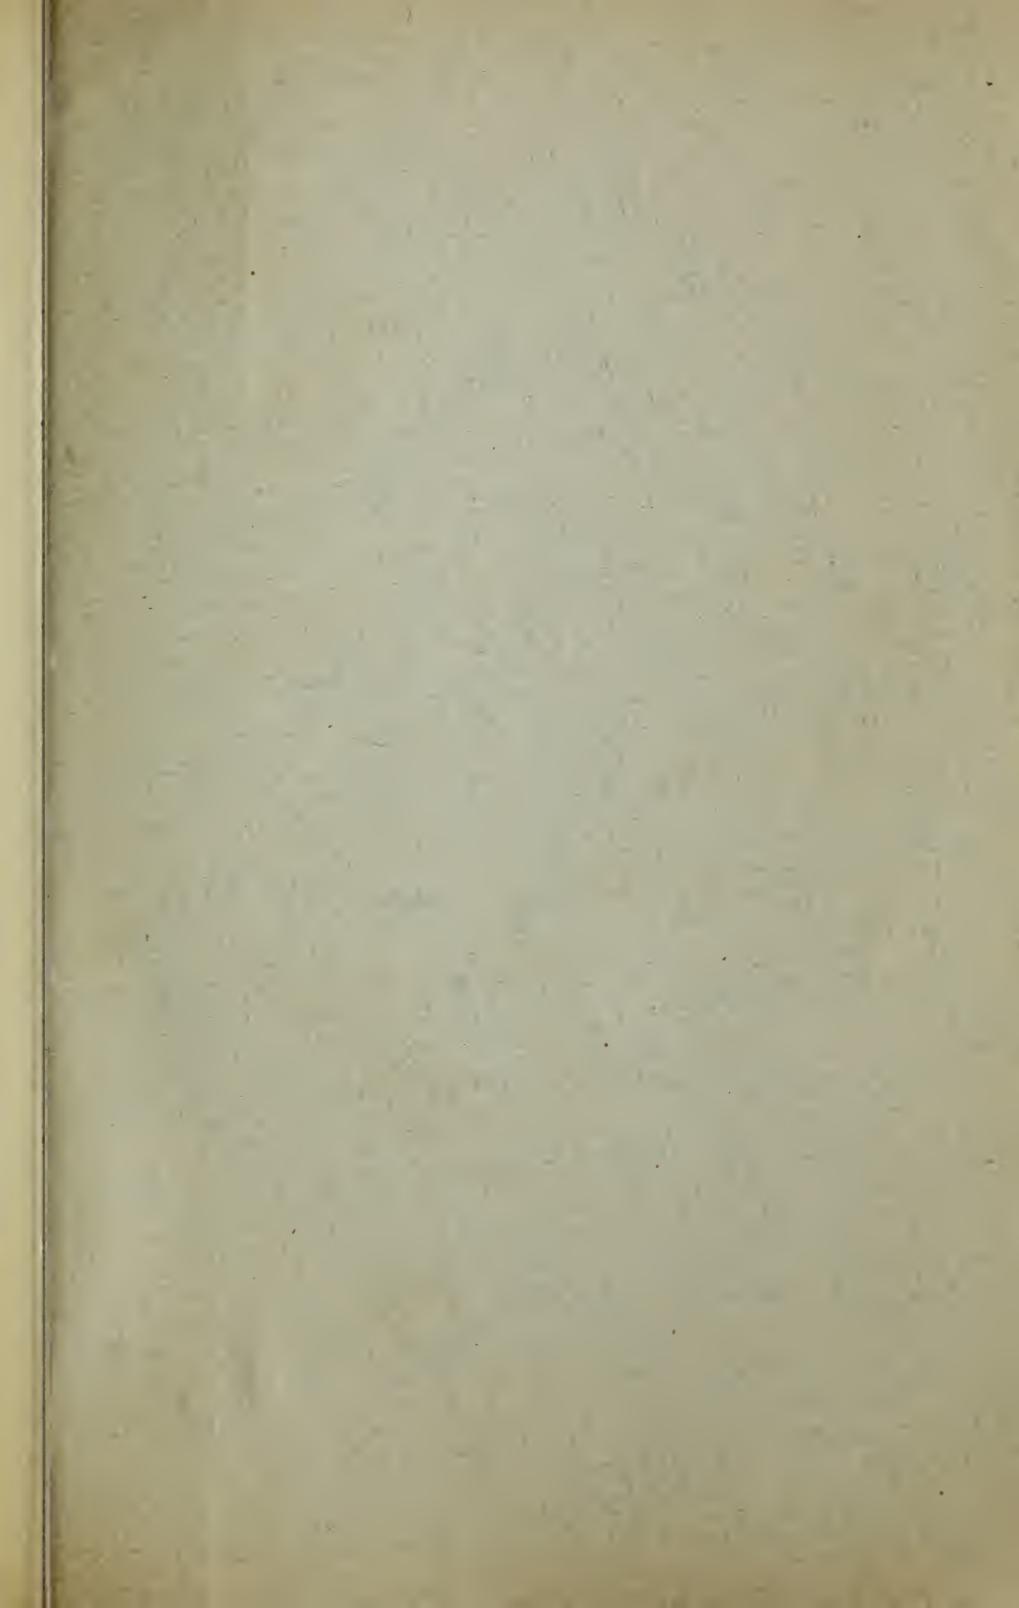

A meeting of the Board of Library Trustees was held at Hotel Melendy, Jeffersonville, June 20th, 1899, with the following members present: Julius D. Safford, D. C. Walker, Mark Stevens and Linus Leavens. An organization was effected by the election of Linus Leavens, Chairman, and Mark Stevens, Secretary. It was voted that the Library should be known as the Cambridge Town Library, and that it should be established with two branches, one at Jeffersonville, and one at Cambridge Boro, that State books and all town appropriations should be divided equally between the two branches. It was also voted that the Trustees act in conjunction with the Cresendo Club of Jeffersonville, and the Ladies' Reading Club of Cambridge, in the establishment of its branches, and the Chairman was instructed to take the proper steps to secure the books furnished by the State Library Association. Owing to the negligence of the Chairman, and several annoying delays, the books were not secured until Jan. 1900. Both branches are now established. That at Jeffersonville, opening with 50 volumes of the State books and 100 volumes added by the Cresendo Club, whose active interest in the movement has been of great assistance to the Trustees. Miss Marion Page has been appointed Librarian and the Cresendo Club will have entire charge of the books, subject to the approval of the Trustees. The Library at Jeffersonville is accommodated temporarily at the dwelling-house of Mr. S. E. Stinehour.

The Cambridge branch, opens with the State books, 50 volumes, and about 50 volumes secured from the old Village Library Association, through the efforts of Mrs. J. D. Safford, of the board of Trustees. This branch is accommodated in the Mrs. Morgan building, on Main Street. The Library has been open every Saturday afternoon since established, is well patronized, and plans are on foot in both villages to add to the number of books. It is hoped by the board of Trustees, that a liberal spirit will mark the Town's appropriation for its Library.
